

CDC 301

Portrait Drawing:

Practical methods for drawing and composing portraiture.

Course Description:

This class explores in more detail the human portrait, discussing composition and methods to approach it. Building on the skills acquired in the first two quarters, students will learn to handle all the features of the face to pleasingly render a head, both in all prima and extended poses.